Source Alliance Network (SAN) Launches Company Headquarters in Chicago, IL

Source Alliance Network (SAN) opens for business in Chicago, IL, making their new Web-based supply chain technology solution, ONESOURCE, available worldwide.

CHICAGO, IL – November 2, 2010 – Founder and Managing Director, Jim G. Vaca, today announced the opening of his company's new headquarters in Chicago, IL. Source Alliance Network (SAN) is a supply chain solutions and technology provider that acts as a one-stop-shop for logistics and supply chain professionals who would otherwise have to partner with several third parties in order to fulfill their supply chain management needs. "We feel that by headquartering in an international hub like Chicago, SAN is going to be able to grow more efficiently and serve more clients," Vaca said.

SAN's comprehensive solutions are made possible through the company's Web-based, multi-modal transportation management system, ONESOURCE. ONESOURCE enables SAN to provide fully comprehensive supply chain management and optimization solutions by coupling high-level market intelligence with advanced information technology. "We see a real lack of complete supply chain management technology solutions in the current marketplace," said Vaca. "We plan to fill that void by using ONESOURCE to help companies reduce costs and resolve issues whether they're dealing with one parcel or fifty truckloads."

SAN is currently offering eligible companies a free comprehensive transportation analysis (CTA) and additional 10% discount on all ONESOURCE-related services. For more information, call (312) 226-2622 or send an e-mail to sales@sourcealliance.net.
